RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

2019— Graduate Research Assistant
DAES, University at Albany
Research on the climate variability over the Congo rainforest includes analyzing thunderstorm activity and trends, investigating changes in the timing and intensity of the diurnal cycle of convection, and assessing the effects of the drying trend and different modes of variability on the diurnal cycles of convection, using the WRF model, reanalysis and satellite data

2017-2018 Research Investigator
AOES, George Mason University
Research on the predictability of the North Atlantic Oscillation using CCSM4 and GEFS model data
